

BETWEEN THE COVERS

A New Spanish and Bilingual Core Collection

Since the first of September, the Fennville District Library has been utilizing a portion of the grant awarded by the The American Library Association COVID Library Relief Fund to build a core collection of Spanish and bilingual materials. Over 500 literary resources for all ages have been added to our collection and are now available for public circulation. All collections include new fiction and non-fiction titles, from board books to graphic novels.

Books for children and youth can be found in our Youth Services department. On the main floor, you can find materials for Young Adults, and Adults. On pages 4 and 5 of the newsletter, you will find links to a handful of the authors we have added. With this addition to our collection the Fennville District Library continues to maintain its mission “to provide access to varied materials and services for lifelong enrichment.”

Santa Paws

Operation Santa Paws encourages animal lovers to share the gift of giving at shelters everywhere from December 1st to December 24th. During this holiday season, let's show a little extra love to our furry friends whom we love with all our hearts. The campaign goal of Operation Santa Paws is to stock the shelters with much-needed supplies. Our four-legged friends need to feel loved during the holidays just like we do!

Our pets are significant to us. For many people, they're a member of the family. They are our best friends, our protectors; sometimes, they even serve as therapists to us. The campaign reminds us of the millions of pets in shelters in need of a loving home. Unfortunately, about 7.6 million companion animals (dogs, cats, and other domestic pets) enter shelters around the country yearly. Although many get adopted, the majority spend much of their lives in cages. December is a time to donate a new blanket, toy, or even some treats for a shelter animal to enjoy during the holidays.

GRAPHICS CORNER

Diana O'Toole is perfectly on track. She will be married by thirty, done having kids by thirty-five, and move out to the New York City suburbs, all while climbing the professional ladder. She's not engaged just yet, but she knows her boyfriend is about to propose on their romantic getaway to the Galápagos—days before her thirtieth birthday. Right on time.

But then a virus that felt worlds away has appeared in the city, and on the eve of their departure. Almost immediately, Diana's dream vacation goes awry. The whole island is now under quarantine, and she is stranded until the borders reopen.

Diana finds herself examining her relationships, her choices, and herself—and wondering if when she goes home, she too will have evolved into someone completely different.

MICHELE'S MEDIA

A long time ago, in a galaxy far, far away... between the fall of the Empire in Return of the Jedi, and the introduction of Rey in The Force Awakens, a lone bounty hunter is given a mission that brings an overload of cuteness to the galaxy. Grogu, originally known officially as "The Child" and popularly as Baby Yoda, is the tiny Jedi sidekick rescued by the Mandalorian, in a Star Wars series bearing the same name.

With an intriguing storyline, exceptional art, interesting characters, action, and suspense speckled with humor, The Mandalorian brought back my love for the Star Wars universe at warp speed. Creator, Jon Favreau, successfully tapped into the nostalgic feelings of the original three Star Wars movies by more deeply entering into the settings of already familiar planets and by delicately balancing practical effects with CGI. For two seasons, I finally had faith in Disney and their ability to redeem themselves in the hearts of many Star Wars fans.

While season three of The Mandalorian is still in production, we will be getting a new look into the life of a bounty hunter who first graced the Star Wars screen in The Empire Strikes Back. Returned from the depths of the belly of the Sarlacc, we will be turning over new pages on December 29 with the premiere of the television series The Book of Boba Fett.

Once In A Great City: A Detroit Story

by David Maraniss

It's 1963 and Detroit is on top of the world. The city's leaders are among the most visionary in America: Grandson of the first Ford; Henry Ford II; influential labor leader Walter Reuther; Motown's founder Berry Gordy; the Reverend C.L. Franklin and his daughter, the amazing Aretha; Governor George Romney, Mormon and Civil Rights advocate; super car salesman Lee Iacocca; Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, a Kennedy acolyte; Police Commissioner George Edwards; Martin Luther King. It was the American auto makers' best year; the revolution in music and politics was underway. Reuther's UAW had helped lift the middle class.

The time was full of promise. The auto industry was selling more cars than ever before and inventing the Mustang. Motown was capturing the world with its amazing artists. The progressive labor movement was rooted in Detroit with the UAW. Martin Luther King delivered his "I Have a Dream" speech there two months before he made it famous in the Washington march.

Once in a Great City shows that the shadows of collapse were evident even then. Before the devastating riot. Before the decades of civic corruption and neglect, and white flight. Before people trotted out the grab bag of rust belt infirmities—from harsh weather to high labor costs—and competition from abroad to explain Detroit's collapse.

CORNER TO THE PAST...

utilizing resources

Fennville resident, City Commissioner, bicyclist and writer, Jim Hayden, has been researching and publishing a local history column titled "Back in the day: A look back at Fennville Area History" on his blog Bicycle Base Fennville. Hayden utilizes the resources from the Marlynn Starring Local History and Genealogy Collection, to take a look back at the happenings in town, up to 100 years ago.

"I greatly appreciate the foresight of the library and founders of the Marlynn Starring Local History and Genealogy Collection. Fennville has a long, rich, colorful history reflected in the now preserved pages of The Fennville Herald. I'm so happy to be able to read about that history and share it with the community."
