

BETWEEN THE COVERS

Color Your World

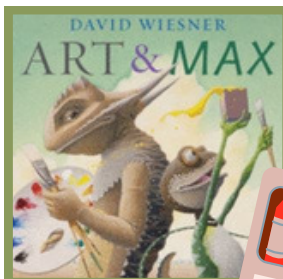

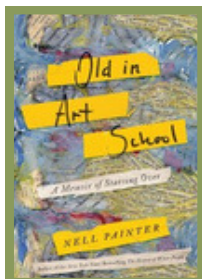

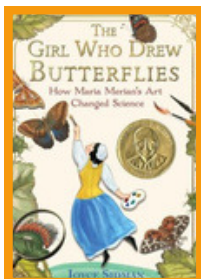

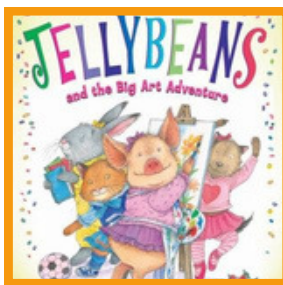

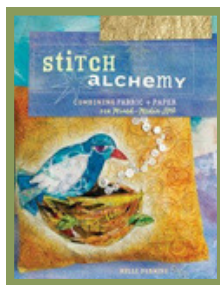

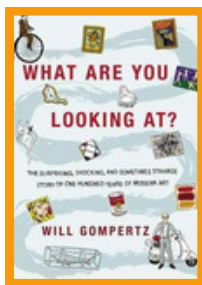

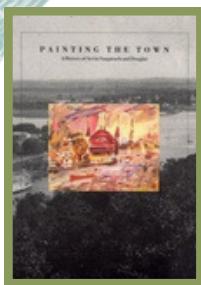

Art has a wonderful way of bringing people together, inspiring creativity, and helping us see the world from a new perspective. Whether you're picking up a paintbrush for the first time, visiting a museum, or simply admiring someone else's creativity, there's always something new to discover.

This month, the Fennville District Library is celebrating the many ways art enriches our lives. Explore our collection of books featuring famous artists, art history, drawing and painting techniques, creative inspiration, and beautiful illustrated stories for readers of all ages.

Whether you're looking to learn a new skill or simply enjoy the beauty of art through the pages of a book, there's something waiting to inspire you.

We hope you'll stop by, browse our displays, discover your next great read, and celebrate the creativity that surrounds us.

However you experience art, the library is here to help you color your world.

The Everest Mystery: Sandy Irvine, George Mallory, and the Truth Still Buried on Everest

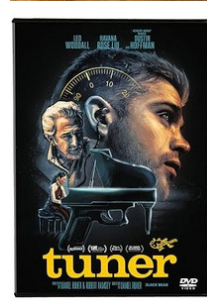

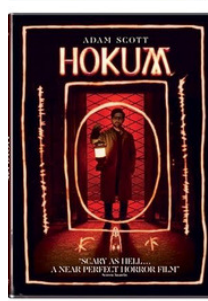

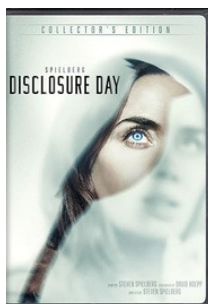

by Julie Summers, Jochen Hemmleb

There is no mystery more compelling in the history of mountaineering than the disappearance of George Mallory and Sandy Irvine close to the summit of Mount Everest on June 8, 1924. Over 100 years after they were last seen 'going strong for the top,' the question of exactly what happened to them on that fateful day has not been answered.

George Mallory's frozen remains were discovered in 1999. But in September 2024, a climber found an old boot lying out in the open on the Central Rongbuk Glacier on Mount Everest, several miles from where Mallory lay. The boot contained a foot, and a sock bearing a nametape spelled out in A.C. IRVINE.

Did Mallory and Irvine reach the summit—becoming the first to do so—or did they perish while ascending? What happened to the camera that Irvine may have carried, which would have documented their climb? The Everest Mystery explores the life of Sandy Irvine, his relationship with George Mallory, and the many theories about what happened to them so close to the summit of Mount Everest. Above all, it restores Sandy Irvine to his place in the great mystery of Everest 1924.

Krysta's AV Corner

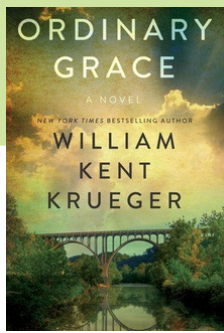

Emily Austin delivers a heartfelt blend of humor and emotional depth in Is This a Cry for Help?. Narrated by Natalie Naudus, the audiobook follows Darcy, a librarian returning to work after a mental health crisis while navigating grief, and community conflict. Equal parts funny, thought-provoking, and moving, this story celebrates resilience, self-discovery, and the vital role libraries play in bringing people together. It's an engaging listen that will resonate long after the final chapter.

Ordinary Grace

by William Kent Krueger

New Bremen, Minnesota, 1961 - It was a time of innocence and hope for a country with a new, young president. But for thirteen-year-old Frank Drum it was a grim summer in which death visited frequently and assumed many forms. Accident. Nature. Suicide. Murder.

Frank begins the season preoccupied with the concerns of any teenage boy, but when tragedy unexpectedly strikes his family—which includes his Methodist minister father; his passionate, artistic mother; Juilliard-bound older sister; and wise-beyond-his-years kid brother—he finds himself thrust into an adult world full of secrets, lies, adultery, and betrayal, suddenly called upon to demonstrate a maturity and gumption beyond his years.

Told from Frank's perspective forty years after that fateful summer, Ordinary Grace is a brilliantly moving account of a boy standing at the door of his young manhood, trying to understand a world that seems to be falling apart around him. It is an unforgettable novel about discovering the terrible price of wisdom and the enduring grace of God.
